Nestled deep in the heart of Georgia is Macon, a town that is deeply steeped in history and tradition. Macon is known for its historic homes such as the Hay House and the Cannonball House, both of which had an interesting role in the War of Northern Aggression.

Macon is also known for its annual Cherry Blossom Festival that gathers thousands of artisans together to share their trade with visitors. If that is not enough to entice you to visit Macon, the Georgia Music and Sports Hall of Fame are both located in the city.

So, come to Macon and experience the Soul of the South.
